

Congratulations! You have chosen some of the best high-performance products available – MSD Performance parts.

MSD's ignitions, Atomic EFI, starters, and other performance parts are used by countless automotive enthusiasts, engine builders, and professional race teams around the world every day. Our products appear in the Winner's Circle every weekend of the year. From great style in car shows to every form of motorsport including NASCAR, NHRA and ADRL drag racing, SCORE off-road racing, World of Outlaw sprint cars and a host of other motorsports, MSD helps deliver you the trophy.

MSD ensures every product that leaves our facilities is up to the standards of the MSD name. To ensure that the MSD brand stays synonymous with quality, we have a dedicated staff of performance experts in our Customer Service Department. These experts are ready to help with any questions you might have with custom wiring diagrams, troubleshooting, and product recommendations.

Working alongside our Customer Service Department is a dedicated team of electronics engineers and engine specialists that are constantly striving to design the best products to perform up to your expectations.

We hope that you enjoy the performance, quality, and reliability that your new MSD product brings. Thank you for choosing MSD.
